County Millage 6.89

Budget $12,000,000

Throughout the year there has always been great variation in what a property owner sees his land is worth when assessed and what is worth when assessed for tax purposes.

This week the county commission which often has to purpose decide it would make its appraisals available to the county tax assessor. The appraisals are the basis for county purchases and are most times much higher than assessed valuations.

The county commission gave final approval this week to its annual budget for this year.

The tax levy was set at 6.89 mills which is slightly less than last year's millage.

RDB Tax Study Committee Suggests "Cut Frills - Stick To Essentials"

In Detailed Study Of School Needs

Members of the Tax and Budget Study Committee of the Resources Development Board of the Palm Beach County are aware of your expressed desire to avoid an increase in the tax millage for school purposes during the coming year and assure you that this objective will be approached by the taxpayers of Palm Beach County.

We are also cognizant of the excellent preparation work being done by Superintendent Howell Watkins and members of his staff to produce an effective budget without unnecessary expenditures.

Members of the Committee are convinced that it will be difficult enough for the taxpayers of this County to provide tax funds for the fundamentals of education, so that any additional items at this time which are not essential to your primary purposes must necessarily be eliminated. In this regard the slight increase in the per capita cost of instruction resulting from adoption of advanced methods in language and mathematics courses should be approved.

However, the multiplicity of requests for "frills" in such non-essential items as intercom systems, parking, paving, trophy cases, athletic field refreshment stands, press boxes and similar luxuries, cannot be considered as essential to your primary educational purposes.

Members of our sub-committee who have been furnished with department requests and budget study material wish to express their thanks to Superintendent Watkins, members of his staff and members of your Board for their wholehearted cooperation, and to commend the study on the excellence of the material which was provided for this budget study.

We find that estimates for new instructional personnel, calling for 167 new teachers are consistent with the population growth of the County, and the addition of the four new schools to be opened in the fall. The increase in the 1962-63 budget of

"HALTER BROKEN"

Here is something to think about. It didn't happen in Russia, it happened right here in the U. S. A. Commenting editorially, the Portland, Oregonian says:

"One doesn't realize how regimented American farmers have become until a Stanley Yankus or a James Weir pops up in the news."

"Mr. Yankus . . . was the Michigan farmer who sold out and moved to Australia after the federal government had fined him more than $5,000 for growing too much wheat. Mr. Yankus did not grow the wheat for sale but to feed his several thousand chickens, but that made no difference. He had planted more than his allotment of wheat acreage and Uncle Sam put the screws on him."

"Down at Lake Village, Ark. . . James Weir's 944-acre farm was sold at government auction for $80,000. Mr. Weir grows rice and is in hook to the government for more than $37,000 in penalties. He paid $5,800 for overplanting his 1953 acre allotment, owes $10,245 for overplanting in 1960 and $16,872 for exceeding the 1959 allotment. The government took his farm to get its penalty money."

"The Arkansas farmer contends that acreage allotments are unconstitutional, that a man can grow what he wants to on his own land and how much he wishes of any particular crop. Not very many years ago virtually every American would have agreed with him . . ."

"Our farmers evidently have been pretty well broken to the halter. Only when a Yankus or a Weir roars up in defiance does one realize how complacently the majority responds to Washington's 'whooas' and 'giddups.'"

More and more industries, and individuals other than farmers, are finding themselves with Washington rings in their noses for regulatory lead ropes.

9 Billion Last Year In America Foreign Pests And Diseases Cost

Latest discovery of the destructive Mediterranean fruit fly (otherwise known as the medfly) in the Miami area emphasizes the importance of keeping our guard up against outbreaks of destructive insect pests and animal diseases. When you note it cost Florida and the Federal government 10 million dollars to wipe out the previous medfly outbreak in 1956, you can see that it pays to keep inspectors on the job all the time to detect any reappearance so it can be jumped on—fast. Like the general whose strategy for winning battles was to "git that fustest with the mostest," we wasted no time in starting eradication operations against the new medfly menace. A force of 80 State and Federal men training in insect extermination, and plenty of equipment were concentrated in the Miami area immediately. If we're lucky, the costly pest will be contained and wiped out there before it can spread and do untold damage to Florida's valuable fruit crops, including citrus. Plant and animal diseases and insect pests have become an increasing problem in the U. S. due to rapid expansion in foreign commerce and travel. In 1961 a dangerous plant pest was stopped every 20 minutes at U. S. ports, borders or airports, according to authoritative statistics. Losses from crop and animal pests and diseases of foreign origin cost the nation more than 9 billion dollars a year. Five new pests have invaded the U. S. since 1950. Included are soybean cyst nematode, which weed and the Khapra beetle, one of the most destructive grain storage pests. The African red fever tick, first found in North America on Florida's east coast a couple of years ago, then at Tampa and also at Hudson, N. Y., was traced to shipments of animals from Africa for American zoos or animal compounds. It was wiped out eventually. The Japanese beetle, however, is now found in 15 eastern seaboard and adjoining states with spot infestations as far west as eastern Missouri, and California has an eradication program going at Sacramento.

Rogers said, "By allowing this project to be developed by American private industry, we have strengthened our own free enterprise system. The Telstar project is an example to the world of the capacities of American business ingenuity."

"Prior to the Telstar launch," Rogers stated, "almost all our space efforts were carried out by the Federal government for military purposes. During hearings held on this project, the concept of projecting the role of American business into our space effort was of the highest importance. My Committee insisted that the communications satellite project be carried out in strict accordance with the private enterprise system. Now that this has been accomplished, the development of bold, new, and practical uses of outer space will follow."

Letters to the Editor

Our child's life seemed to be hanging in balance when we arrived at the Belle Glade Hospital two years ago in the month of June. It was eleven o'clock this meant the nurses and nurses aids were changing shifts. I did not think of this as we traveled the three miles to the hospital (seemed like thirty) all I could do was pray . . . Please God help us. He must have heard and answered our prayers.

My husband and I rushed in to the hospital like two crazy people yelling help our baby. I never saw so many people start to work so quickly. They were all so calm quiet and efficient.

We were begging and praying and yelling at the same time. They worked with our baby—talked to us—called Dr. Gray. As he came in I think I stormed out at him begging him to tell me what was wrong with my child. I had never witnessed anything like this before. Didn't dream it could happen to us. He calmly asked me some questions and told me to wait outside.

We paced the floors cried—prayed and beg for her life. Dr. Gray was with my child until about 2 o'clock in the morning. They put her to bed at 1:30. He talked to us and explained the trouble, said she would be alright.

We thanked him and went to our baby's bedside. We stayed until Saturday morning. We went in Wednesday night. He took care of our needs when we needed him. The other Doctors took interest. Nurses and Nurses aids also. No one shirked their duty toward my child. Yes we paid these people but they can never repay the kindness, shown to us during those days of worry and fear. That is not the only time there has been others. Dr. Gray ran to us knowing we needed him. Thank God for him. Dr. Shirley, Dr. Gray, Dr. Baker who came in that night and offered to help. Thank God for all of this with the knowledge to help us.

Please dear people of the Glades let us keep our hospital close because I feel sure. If we had to have a few more miles to get help for our child it would have been fatal. You may need the help I received that night in June and if you are fatal to your or your child.

It's Still Mullet

And's Still "Good"

The State Department of Conservation is planning a new name for Florida mullet as part of a campaign to put more of the fish on the Nation's dinner tables.

Director Randolph Hodges has instigated a program to boost the use of fish based on the current interest in foods with polyunsaturated fats as a means of combating heart disease. Research Director Robert Ingle has suggested the name "Lisa," which is Spanish for mullet. He says a change of name might help sales among Spanish-speaking people.

The State Department of Correction will can some mullet at the Belle Glade prison cannery factory. The fish will then be provided to all state institutions. Later, it is hoped commercial Canners will place it on sale in the open market.

Ingle also announced the State purchasing Commission was interested in a new process to freeze breaded, cooked mullet for home use.

Florida produces about 40,000 pounds of the fish each year with Lee County the state's largest producer.

Wainwright Succeeds Cochran As Director Correction Division

The state cabinet has named Louis Wainwright, superintendent of the Avon Park Correctional Institution, to replace H. G. Cochran, Jr., who resigned as director of the Florida Prison system.

Cochran has been state prison director since 1959. Before that he was state beverage director and a consumer member of the Florida Milk Commission. Wainwright, a native of Lawley, is a former police officer of Gainesville.

This is a worth while hobby, and any boy willing to spend time building and learning to fly a model airplane would be greatly rewarded. Tuesday, July 24 is Model Airplane Day. The students will get a chance to see our young aviators in action.

Exhibition Week at Lake Shore
This is our final week of the Summer Program and it has been designated as Exhibition Week. The students and Mrs. Hawkins have prepared a colorful display of completed projects. Everyone is invited to view this display.

Many unusual objects may be seen. Such objects as tie-dye, record fruit bowls, textile painting, yarn lapel pins, and shell jewelry have been completed.

Expressions of Appreciation
Our program here has been very successful; whatever success we have had is due to the help from persons in the community. We wish to express our thanks to the P. T. A. for its contribution in financing the program. We wish to thank Mr. J. T. Houston, Sr., and Mr. Elmore Williams for providing transportation for our softball team. We sincerely appreciate any help given us by all persons.

Answers to 8 questions on car care that Shell dealers often hear

Shell dealers answer thousands of questions every year. Here are 8 that crop up all the time. The answers have helped many motorists save money. They may do the same for you.

Note: New Shell X-100® Premium is the first premium motor oil that leaves no additive ash deposits. It fights four other internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

1 What's that funny noise I hear? All cars make some noise. But be particularly alert for any squeals, squeaks, clicks, or rattles that crop up suddenly. Could be anything from a sticking valve lifter to a loose wheel lug. Ask your Shell dealer to help you track down any unusual noise. You may save yourself a big repair bill later on.

2 How can I get more mileage from my tires? Rotate all tires, including the spare, every 6,000 miles. Drive at moderate speeds. Tires can wear twice as fast at 70 miles per hour as at 45. Avoid fast cornering. "jackrabbits" starts, sudden stops. Try not to bang tires against curbs. And check your tire pressure frequently.

3 Do I really need a lube job every thousand miles? Yes—unless you have one of the newer models that doesn't require it. But with any car, remember that frequent lubrication offers your serviceman a chance to spot trouble before it costs you a lot of money. That's why Shell dealers give you a bumper-to-bumper inspection with every Shelllubrication.

4 Can knock hurt my engine? Usually it's more annoying than harmful. But persistent knocking hampers performance and can lead to engine damage. That's why Shell scientists are such sticklers about knock. They even listen for it with stethoscopes and insist that Super Shell contain no fewer than three knock-fighting ingredients.

5 How can I make my battery last longer? Here are four suggestions: 1. Let your Shell dealer check your car's electrical system. Worn wires and loose connections can drain power. 2. Always maintain battery water to the proper level. 3. Avoid prolonged idling with radio turned on. 4. Go driving! Long drives help charge your battery.

6 What does TCP do? Shell's unique TCP® is a combustion control additive. The hot piston device above shows one way TCP works. The glowing deposit on the left has not been neutralized with TCP. In your engine, glowing deposits can ignite fuel too soon, wasting fuel and power. Deposit on right has been "fireproofed" by TCP. No glow—no power loss.

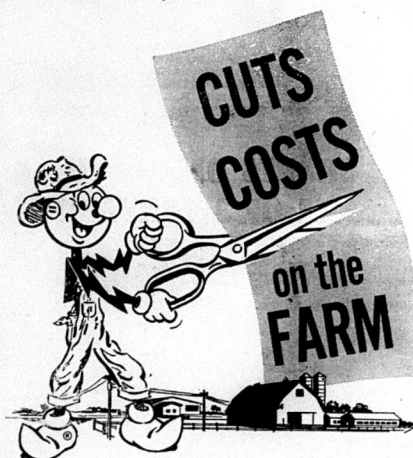

7 How often should I change oil? The American Petroleum Institute recommends an oil change every 30 days in winter, every 60 days during summer.

8 Why do my tires wear out on just one side? Most likely cause: wheels out of alignment. Result: your tires drag against the road and wear unevenly. Unbalanced wheels can also cause uneven wear and make your car shake or shimmy. That's why it's a good idea to keep tires balanced and have wheel alignment checked twice a year.

Now a question for you

Is your car giving you top performance? If there's any doubt in your mind, try a tankful of today's Super Shell. It contains 9 ingredients including a gum preventive, three knock-fighters, "cat-cracked" gasoline, a mileage booster, an anti-etch, quick-starting Butane, and Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2893212.

You can't beat REDDY KILOWATT for doing farm jobs at low cost. Works full-time for part-time wages. The more jobs that Reddy does, the more money you save. Equity in Government Representation!

Back in '49 when the Western Palm Beach County Hospital District was divided into the NW and the SW Districts some 100,000 acres of land south of Runyan and traditionally a part of the Southwestern area was included in the Northwest Hospital District, without leave or knowledge of the owners and taxpayers before the passage of the bill.

Thirteen years of experience clearly demonstrate the impractical set-up so far as hospital service for that area is concerned, because:

- (1) the distances are out of reason comparatively, and practically;
- (2) the services are not available to residents of the area as intended under the act creating the hospital districts; and for which it has paid;
- (3) historically, the land from Runyan south has been considered a part of the southwest, and has been in control of south residents;
- (4) Development acreage-wise and dollar-wise in that area has been more than the remaining part of the northwest district;

(5) Lands available for development in this trip emphasize the impractical continued inclusion of these lands in the Northwest hospital district.

Cases are known to the legal world where taxes for benefits may be shown to have no benefits are shown to exist.

Since '49 - 15 years - these lands have paid taxes to the Northwest District; proposed taxes for '62 are 3.75 mills times $4 million, or $15,000.

Taxes accruing to the northwest district for '63, at the same millage will approximate $33,750 when a new assessment is made on January 1st, 1963 - the present $4 million plus $3 million, minimum, added.

These figures suggest that in four years - 63 thru 66 - our donation to the Northwest district will pay for 35 modern, creditable beds ("acceptable by Hill-Burton standards") in our present building.

Good-neighborness, or "give-away" - whatever you call it - has a limit.

The Federal Courts have said there will be equity in government representation and taxes - there will be reapportionment in Florida, with consideration for populous areas.

In the NW and SW Hospital Districts of Palm Beach County, there is a parallel case!

Mr. Gorham, Registrar says that May, registered voters in the two areas were:

Canal Point	416
Pahokee	1166
Total in NW District	1582	29.7%
Chosen	272
Belle Glade	2984
South Bay	345
Lake Harbor	142
Total in SW District	3743	70.3%

THINK AHEAD!
Think ahead of your job; then nothing can keep the job ahead from reaching out to you. Do it better than it needs to be done. Next time doing it will be his child's play. Let on one or anything stand between you and the difficult task, let nothing deny you the rich chance to gain strength by adversity, confidence by mastery, success by deserving it. Do it better each time. Do it better than anyone else can do it. I know this sounds old-fashioned, but it is, it has built the world.

"Give-aways" Cut Thru His Works Says Paul Rogers
Congressman Paul G. Rogers has been advised that an amendment he first offered and which was adopted in 1959, and again in 1961, has resulted in a cut of $260 million in the gift and grant features of the Foreign Aid program requests.

In a cover letter to Congressman Rogers, the State Department said this has resulted in a reduction of $100 million in requests for Supporting Assistance in the next fiscal year, and a reduction of $45 million in the Development Grant request. This, added to the $115 million cut during the current fiscal year, reflects a total cut in these programs of $260 million in requests to date.

This amendment shows what positive action can be taken by the Congress to reduce and gradually eliminate the outright give-away features of the Foreign Aid program. Congressman Rogers said "It is gratifying to know that in just a few short years we have been able to bring about a cut in requests for this program of some $260 million. Of course this reduction will increase each year, so that progress will continue to be made to do away with these foreign give-aways. With this start, it is my intention to continue to work for an eventual termination of the Foreign Aid program."
